

Michael Francis C. Andrada

Michael Francis C. Andrada or Mykel teaches creative writing, Philippine literature, discourse and popular literature in the University of the Philippines, the country's premier state university. He has published two books of short stories written in the Filipino language. He has held various editorial positions in and out of the University of the Philippines. He holds a master of arts degree in Philippine Studies and is currently pursuing doctoral studies in Philippine Literature in the same university. He has won major literary award in the Philippines.